THE STEWARD

5th Sunday in Ordinary Time SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 5, 2023

By Fr.Tom Refermat, Associate Pastor We have been talking a lot about evangelization these past few months. One of the goals of the Renew My Church has been to look at the area of evangelization to examine ways in which we can share our Faith with others. Ultimately it is to bring others to Mass to encounter Christ, but it doesn't start there nor does it end there.

Evangelization begins with relationships. It means first looking at the relationships I already have. Maybe it's my own family or the people I see every day at work. I know that some large companies offer time during lunch breaks to look at a Bible passage and share their Faith with others. Each time we pray with our children or tell our family where you found God in your life this day, that's evangelization. As a kid, there was no question about going to Mass; the challenge happened in the Catholic school I attended, where we were challenged to find how our Faith was lived out each day. Unlike other subjects, religion class not only taught us the 10 Commandments, 7 Sacraments, and parts of the Bible, but it challenged us to apply what we learned into everyday living. Sure, we went as a class to confession for Advent and Lent, prayed the morning offering each day, had prayers before we went home, and prayed as we huddled in hallways during tornado drills, but we also were challenged to find God when I went outside to play, and interacted with family members.

As I got older, I learned from others that what I was doing is evangelizing and living out my Faith. So evangelization doesn't necessarily require that I walk door to door ringing doorbells and asking complete strangers if they know Christ. It began with me living out my Faith and being that light so that others will see my Faith without saying a single word about God. In order to evangelize, I have to interact with others. This is what I think is the prerequisite or beginning of evangelization.

We all live out our Faith everyday, showing kindness to the stranger, forgiving our brother or sister, and helping the neighbor in whatever capacity I can. In one sense, evangelization can mean accompanying others on their journey to God. We try to set a good example, even when things get tough and we are tempted to gain revenge at another.

If evangelization begins with interaction with others, I think this means getting to know others and spending time with them. Yes, it begins in the home, setting a good example, but also sharing with others when we see kindness and charity and God in their lives. Have you ever told someone they were a blessing? Have you ever reminded someone how much God has blessed you today with a beautiful sunrise or the warmth of a house on a cold day? These little reminders tell us and remind us that God shouldn't be forgotten, but that He is all around us in ways we sometimes miss.

Now I was reminded a few years ago by my dad of a deeper level of evangelization. He told me that his friend, a man who worked with him when volunteering at the parish, invited him to become part of a small group of men who pray and socialize each month. The invitation wasn't to pledge his life away, but simply come and see what they were about. He wasn't intimidated by the man since he was his friend; he didn't feel pressured into going; he simply found someone he knew who took interest in him and simply invited him. That's one of the secrets to evangelization: begin with inviting friends or people you know.

I can speak for myself, that sometimes a simply invite from a friend can move a person to consider going a little deeper in my Faith. Again, it begins with making friends or sharing with acquaintances. Talking to a complete stranger is another aspect of evangelization, but not very effective. Effective evangelization begins with people we already know and interact with.

As we move forward to trying to be successful in evangelizing, it requires having friends or others we know, not with strangers. It requires us not to pester someone nor nag them into coming to a concert or a Mass with them, but simply inviting. We have to realize that people will say no to the Good News; our aim is not apologetics or arguing with someone over our Faith. It involves inviting. I can't help thinking about sports teams or other groups that recruit simply by inviting. Maybe you will invite 10 people to join you for the next concert in Church, but know you may only get 1 person to come with you. So don't let that discourage you, but like the parable of the sower and the seed, a lot of the little seeds will fall on rough soil, our goal is only to spread them.

RITE OF ENROLLMENT - ST. BENEDICT 8TH GRADE CLASS

Members of Parish School and RE 8th grade classes were enrolled as confirmandi at last week's 5 p.m. Saturday vigil Mass and the 10 a.m. Sunday Mass. Present at the Rite of Enrollment were their sponsors who pledged to support them in this new part of their journey of faith which will lead them to receiving the sacrament later this spring in April. Please remember in your prayers these boys and girls as they study and prepare to receive the Holy Spirit at Confirmation, as well as their teachers and catechists who are guiding them.

Lord, hold the center together

Author and black Catholic educator Therese Wilson Favors wrote some rousing words for today's observance, the National Day of Prayer for the African American Family: "At times when the strain of life is heaviest within our families, 'holding-on power' is needed. Perseverance is the glue squeezed out from the soul and spoken in prayer at the midnight hour. Perseverance is the spiritual machine needed to break down the mountain and push through from weakness to strength. Lord, let me hold on just a little bit longer." Pray for black families and all families vulnerable to social forces that embattle them.

FIFTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

TODAY'S READINGS: Isaiah 58:7-10; 1 Corinthians 2:1-5; Matthew 5:13-16 (73). "Your vindication shall go before you, and the glory of the LORD shall be your rear guard."

Be nourished by his rain

Almost 350 years before the second atomic bomb was dropped on the Japanese city of Nagasaki, it was the site of another tragedy the place where 26 Christian martyrs were crucified on a hill, now known as Holy Mountain. The best known of the martyrs was Brother Paul Miki, a native Japanese member of the Jesuit order. While hanging on his cross, he continued to preach, expressing thanks to God that he was dying for teaching the doctrine of Christ and urging his listeners to "ask Christ to help you to become happy." He said he hoped his blood would fall as "fruitful rain." May his gentle words and brave witness nourish your prayer today.

MEMORIAL OF PAUL MIKI AND COMPANIONS, MARTYRS TODAY'S READINGS: Genesis 1:1-19; Mark 6:53-56 (329). "They laid the sick in the marketplaces and begged him that they might touch only the tassel on his cloak."

How to help a good cause

Six individuals are in line to become the first African-American saint: Sister Thea Bowman, Julia Greeley, Mother Mary Lange, Mother Henriette Delille, Father Augustus Tolton, and Pierre Toussaint. The first three have the title "servant of God," indicating their canonization cause has been launched. The latter three have the title "venerable," meaning the pope recognizes their heroic virtue. Next would come beatification, allowing candidates to be called "blessed"; it includes the church's confirmation that they are in heaven—evidenced by at least two miracles from their intercession (unless they're martyred). Finally, comes canonization. Learn about these six and seek their intercession year-round.

TODAY'S READINGS: Genesis 1:20-2:4a; Mark 7:1-13 (330). "God created man in his image; in the divine image he created him; male and female he created them."

Saintly guidance to help end modern-day slavery

This day marks the International Day of Prayer and Awareness Against Human Trafficking—also the feast of the first and only black woman saint in modern times: the Sudanese nun Josephine Bakhita. Kidnapped into slavery as a child by Arab traffickers in the late 19th century, she was converted to Islam before eventually being left in the care of Canossian Sisters in Italy. Her freedom soon came, and she lived out her later life as a Catholic and eventually a nun. Today, an estimated 50 million people live in modern-day slavery. Christians are among the greatest combatants of the trade, and Saint Josephine was named the patron of survivors when she was canonized in 2000. May her faith continue to inspire those working to end the scourge, and may we join their efforts.

MEMORIAL OF JOSEPHINE BAKHITA, RELIGIOUS TODAY'S READINGS: Genesis 2:4b-9, 15-17; Mark 7:14-23 (331). "When you send forth your spirit, they are created, and you renew the face of the earth."

Seeing Adam's rib with fresh eyes

Traditionally, today's first reading has been used as a cudgel to keep women in divinely sanctioned inferiority. In the past century, scholars have looked differently at Genesis. Eve being created last doesn't imply inferiority, they say; human creation came after the rest of creation and traditionally was seen as implying superiority (which is actually another idea now under question). Also, many say a "partner" for Adam would imply equal status. Scripture interpretation depends heavily on the culture and on who is doing the interpreting. May the Holy Spirit inspire each one of us to advance human dignity.

TODAY'S READINGS: Genesis 2:18-25; Mark 7:24-30 (332). "This one, at last, is bone of my bones and flesh of my flesh."

Togetherness has its virtue

Saint Scholastica (480-543) is the patron of Benedictine nuns and sisters. Along with her brother Saint Benedict of Nursia, she helped establish a rule for monastic living that emphasized prayer, work, and peace. Contemporary Benedictine women continue to follow this ancient set of precepts. The vision of monastic life, as expressed in the 2022 Centennial Prayer of the Benedictine Federation of Saint Scholastica is to "see Christ at the heart of all creation and at the center of our common life" and "share the peace of Christ, show the love of Christ, and make Christ known in our world." In what ways does your own life within family and community give witness to the peace and love of Christ?

MEMORIAL OF SCHOLASTICA, RELIGIOUS TODAY'S READINGS: Genesis 3:1-8; Mark 7:31-37 (333). "[Jesus] has done all things well."

Our hands, God's hands

Today is World Day of the Sick, an observation introduced by Pope John Paul II as a way for believers to serve those suffering from illnesses. "Because Your hands, which touch the suffering flesh of Christ," said the sainted pope, "can be a sign of the merciful hands of the Father." Today and every day we pray for and care for the sick in our lives. On this day last year Pope Francis stated, "The ministry of consolation is a task for every baptized person, mindful of the word of Jesus: 'I was sick and you visited me.'"

TODAY'S READINGS: Genesis 3:9-24; Mark 8:1-10 (334). "My heart is moved with pity for the crowd."

Fifth Sunday in Ordinary Time

Written by THE FAITHFUL DISCIPLE

Is 58:7-10 | 1 Cor 2:1-5 | Mt 5:13-16

GROW AS A DISCIPLE | PRAY, STUDY, ENGAGE, SERVE

It's amazing how one interaction can brighten an otherwise gloomy day. I love a nice sunrise on a wintry morning or a crackling fire on an autumn night. But whatever the weather, nothing quite lights up my day like a shared laugh with a friend, a snippet of real conversation with my teen son, or a hot cup of coffee delivered by my husband. In today's reading, Jesus continues the Sermon on the Mount, telling the disciples: "Your light must shine before others, that they may see your good deeds and glorify your heavenly Father." We, too, can be light for others – through good deeds large and small, ordinary and extraordinary. As we go about our days, we can ask the Lord to show us how to serve others. We will have days when we don't feel up to the task but, like St. Paul, we can ask the Holy Spirit to light the way.

GO EVANGELIZE

PRAYER, INVITATION, WITNESS, ACCOMPANIMENT

In the Sermon on the Mount, Jesus used images that resonate with us as much as they did with his followers 2,000 years ago: salt and light. Salt serves many purposes, preserving our food and giving it flavor, for example. And of course we cannot live without light. In today's Gospel, Jesus tells the disciples: "You are the salt of the earth ... You are the light of the world." Like the disciples we, too, can be salt and light for others by giving witness to our faith. What that involves will be different for each of us. For ideas, we can turn to today's reading from Isaiah, which calls us to share our bread, shelter the oppressed and clothe the naked. In doing so, our light "shall break forth like the dawn."

ACTION We all know people we'd call "the salt of the earth." Who are those people in your life? Make a list of the characteristics they exhibit or actions they take that you can learn from and try to imitate. Ask God for the grace to see and do likewise for his glory.

You are the salt of the earth, you are the light of the world."

Human Concerns

Ways Manipulative Narcissists Silence You: Part III Does your abuser shift blame, change

the subject, name-call or nitpick?

From the Domestic Violence Outreach Team of St. Benedict Parish

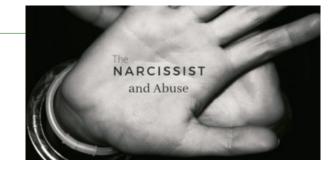

9. Name-calling. Narcissists preemptively blow anything they perceive as a threat to their superiority out of proportion. In their world, only they can ever be right and anyone who dares to say otherwise creates a narcissistic injury that results in narcissistic rage. As Mark Goulston, M.D. asserts, narcissistic rage does not result from low self-esteem but rather a high sense of entitlement and false sense of superiority. The lowest of the low resort to narcissistic rage in the form of name-calling when they can't think of a better way to manipulate your opinion or micromanage your emotions. Name-calling is a quick and easy way to put you down, degrade you and insult your intelligence, appearance or behavior while invalidating your right to be a separate person with a right to his or her perspective. Name-calling can also be used to criticize your beliefs, opinions and insights. A well-researched perspective or informed opinion suddenly becomes "silly" or "idiotic" in the hands of a malignant narcissist or sociopath who feels threatened by it and cannot make a respectful, convincing rebuttal. Rather than target your argument, they target you as a person and seek to undermine your credibility and intelligence in any way they possibly can. It's important to end any interaction that consists of name-calling and communicate that you won't tolerate it. Don't internalize it: realize that they are resorting to name-calling because they are deficient in higher level methods.

10. Destructive conditioning. Toxic people condition you to associate your strengths, talents, and happy memories with abuse, frustration and disrespect. They do this by sneaking in covert and overt put-downs about the qualities and traits they once idealized as well as sabotaging your goals, ruining celebrations, vacations and holidays. They may even isolate you from your friends and family and make you financially dependent upon them. Like Pavlov's dogs, you're essentially "trained" over time to become afraid of doing the very things that once made your life fulfilling. Narcissists, sociopaths, psychopaths and otherwise toxic people do this because they wish to divert attention back to themselves and how you're going to please them. If there is anything outside of them that may threaten their control over your life, they seek to destroy it. They need to be the center of attention at all times. In the idealization phase, you were once the center of a narcissist's world – now the narcissist becomes the center of yours. Narcissists are also naturally pathologically envious and don't want anything to come in between them and their influence over you. Your happiness represents everything they feel they cannot have in their emotionally shallow lives. After all, if you learn that you can get validation, respect and love from other sources besides the toxic person, what's to keep you from leaving them? To toxic people, a little conditioning can go a long way to keep you walking on eggshells and falling just short of your big dreams.
